

Clifton Springs Rotary Club Backs Program for Handicapped Children

CLIFTON SPRINGS — The Clifton Springs Rotary Club Tuesday noon showed enthusiastic approval of a new camp program for physically handicapped children. This project, which is under the sponsorship of the 251st District of Rotary International, is designed to give experience in the outdoors and in group living to children usually denied such an opportunity.

The purpose and details of the camp program, which will be initiated during August this year at Camp Babcock-Hovey, were explained to local Rotarians Tuesday by Robert Maney and Harold Allen, two members of the Geneva Rotary Club, which was first to get behind the endeavor. The spokesmen described the method of camper selection as depending first on the physically handicapped child's ability to walk and profit from a limited activity program; second, on his recommendation by his local representative; third, upon his approval by a medical selection board.

The camping program, to be under the supervision of some of the regular Babcock-Hovey personnel, will offer creative work such as arts and crafts and group games, geared to the special participants.

Mr. Maney is now serving as district chairman of the project and Mr. Allen as a member of the project committee. Nine out of the 20 member clubs of the 251st District have already pledged financial support to the camp for physically handicapped children.

After the presentation and a vigorous question and answer period, Clifton Springs agreed to be the 10th club of the district to get behind the service undertaking. President Francis Walters appointed J. L. Brown as Clifton Springs representative on the camp committee.

He announced that Dr. I. Robert Wood, local Rotarian and pediatrician at the Clifton Springs Sanitarium, had already been asked to serve on the medical selection board.

At last week's meeting of the board of directors of the local Rotary club continued support of another youth project was endorsed. The club will again sponsor the Friendly Town Plan, whereby New York Herald Tribune Free Air Children are brought from New York City to spend a two-week summer vacation in Clifton Springs homes.

Effective Next Year — Kindergarten Age Changed at Clifton

CLIFTON SPRINGS — The Clifton Springs Board of Education sent out Tuesday its first of a monthly series of newsletters to inform residents of the school district of little known facts about Clifton Springs Central School.

The publication announced a new age for C.S.C.S. kindergarten registration of four years and nine months by Sept. 1, which will become effective during the 1956-57 school year. The change in registration age from four years and eight months to four years and nine months was made by local board of education resolution following the recommendation of the state department of education.

The newsletter also reported that Clifton Springs Central had increased its registration to 1,020 pupils this year. The highest number of pupils registered during any one time this year was 997.

The present employes of Clifton Springs Central were also enumerated for district residents. of federal assistance, careful planning, and large quantity purchasing. Information of particular interest to parents included methods of reporting pupil absences, ways of determining school closing during inclement weather, and highlights planned for the February P.T.A. meeting.
